1. An examiner's amendment to the record appears below. Should the changes and/or additions be unacceptable to applicant, an amendment may be filed as provided by 37 CFR 1.312. To ensure consideration of such an amendment, it MUST be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee.

Authorization for this examiner's amendment was given in a telephone interview with M. Robert Kestenbaum on 19 May 2005. Applicant agreed to amend: claim 11 to provide antecedent basis for claim terms; claim 89 to set forth a transition phrase; claim 91 to update dependency; and claim 91 to update dependency consistent with the remarks filed 9 May 2005. In addition, claims 34 - 88 will be cancelled, as they are drawn to an invention non-elected without traverse.

The application has been amended as follows:

In claim 11, line 2, "the grip part" was changed to -- a grip part --.

In claim 89, line 5, "wherein" was changed to -- characterized in that --.

In claim 91, line 1, "2" was changed to -- 89 --.

In claim 95, line 1, "1" was changed to -- 21 --.

Claims 34 - 88 were canceled.

2. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: Wilson (Figures 6, 7) and Meletiou et al. (Figure 1) teach arrangements that are structurally similar to the claimed apparatus. However, while the instant invention is directed to measurement of hard tissue, Wilson is designed to measure porosity of sterile packaging materials and operates with a much lower pressure than needed for the measurement of the claimed apparatus. Further, Meletiou et al. is designed to test concrete and operates with a much higher pressure than is needed for the measurement of the claimed apparatus. Thus, none of the prior art teaches or suggests, either alone or in combination, an apparatus for determining the remineralization ability of hard tissue with a measuring device that includes a measuring element connected to a probe section and responding to the physical property of porosity of hard tissue, wherein the measuring device measures fluid leakage through the tissue to be investigated, in combination with the other claimed elements.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
